STUDENTS

ADMITTED TO

THE INNER TEMPLE.

1571-1625.

INNER TEMPLE.

THE earliest admissions at this Temple are those in 1571, contained in the original book, from which the first 46 pages are missing.

At this period, Students certified to have been in Commons two years, and during that time to have kept the exercises of the house, paid all dues, and been of good behaviour, by the Principal and Reader for the time being of any Inn of Chancery, were admitted on payment of 20s. only. A general admittance fee was £3 6s. 8d. A special admittance fee was £6 13s. 4d., unless upon favour; then less, as the Parliament might determine. Sons of Benchers and nominees of Readers were admitted without payment of any fees, and were excused from Commons and Vacation Lectures. During this part of the 16th century but few Students were called to the degree of Barrister for professional advantages.

Biographical information respecting these Students, forwarded to "The Under-Treasurer, Inner Temple," will oblige.

January, 1868.

The dates affixed to the letter B. denote the date of the Student's Call to the Bar.

The following Letter, from Lord Chancellor HATTON, respecting this Admission is among the Documents of the Inn :—

“ After my very hartly comendacions, I am to entreate
 “ yo^r favour towards this Bearer, my neare kinsman,
 “ Thomas Saunders, that yo^u will be pleased to graunt
 “ him a special admittance into yo^r house. I have “ hitherunto had care of his education, and have cawsed
 “ him to continew at Cambridge, where (as some tell
 “ me) he hath not spent his tyme altogether unpro-
 “ fitably; and, therefore, he being now both for age
 “ and understanding (as I hope) fitt enoughe for the “ study of the Law, I am desirous to have him follow
 “ the same, rather in that house, whereof myself was
 “ and am, than in any other. I heare also that there
 “ remayne at this present in yo^r disposition certayne
 “ chambers, by reason that it hath pleased God to call
 “ some of yo^r fellowshippe to his mercie, and by cause
 “ I know that it wold be a good means to draw him
 “ to the applying of his book, if he were provided
 “ of such a chamber in the house, I am further to “ pray yo^r good wills that he may have one of them.
 “ These yo^r courtesies I shall take very thankfully,
 “ and be ready to requite them to yo^u all, and to “ eche of yo^u by the best meanes I may. Soe trusting
 “ of your friendly regard herein, I leave yo^u to the “ most mercifull protection of the Almightye. Ffrom
 “ Eely Place in Holborne, the 8th of October, 1590.

“ Yo^r very assured loving frende,
